Ready, steady… write!

Ready, steady… write! With the help of five visual prompts, more than 30 students gathered for the annual DFG-LFA writathon (creative writing evening in English) on Thursday 16th February from 16h00 to 20h00.

Whether it was alone or in groups, in a digital or analogue way, all the participants shared an enjoyable moment in which they could use their creative writing skills in English far from the traditional assessments they are imposed in class.

A small buffet, complete with freshly-prepared waffles, added to the good mood.

Well done and thank you to all participants and organisers from the English department. Keep an eye on the website, we'll post some of the productions as soon as they are ready!

James started walking to the kitchen while talking. I followed him before asking more questions.
-How long did I sleep ?
He put water on a teakettle before answering.
-Almost three days, he said.
THREE DAYS ?? And he only care to say this now. Fuck. John is going to be so pissed at me.
-I have to go, where am I ? I almost cried this words out

I opened my PC,accored my code,I put the SD card in the computer. It was charging for like 5 minutes,then a black image camed on the screen of the PC.It was a video,from a specific place.
I know that place very well,I don't know from where ,maybe from my favorite movie or something like that.Until the moment I saw my cat under a bed ,he looked scared ,then I realised that it was my bed,my mirror,my bedsheets,it was my room.Than the image went black again,the next video was filming from my kitchen !!

Auf die Plätze, fertig… schreiben! Mit Hilfe von fünf zufällig gewürfelten Bildern wurde der Startschuss gegeben für den jährlichen Writathon des DFG (Kreativ-Schreibabend in Englisch) am Donnerstag, den 16. Februar von 16.00 bis 20.00. Mehr als 30 Schülerinnen und Schüler, ob allein oder in Gruppen, ob digital oder analog, erlebten einen angenehmen Moment, in dem sie ihre kreativen Schreibfähigkeiten in Englisch fernab von den traditionellen Bewertungen, die ihnen im Unterricht auferlegt werden, einsetzen konnten. Ein kleines Buffet mit frisch zubereiteten Waffeln trug zur guten Stimmung bei.

Ein herzliches Dankeschön an alle Teilnehmer*innen und Organisator*innen aus dem Fachbereich Englisch. Bald werden auch einige der Textproduktionen veröffentlicht, die bei der Veranstaltung entstanden sind.
